All,

I am reaching out regarding a consumer protection issue with 7 For All Mankind, a subsidiary of Delta Galil.

- On [date], I attempted to cancel a $268 order before shipment.
- The company's own terms state orders require 2–4 days to process before shipping.
- Instead, they shipped immediately after my cancellation request — a deliberate act to bypass it.
- Since then, I have contacted over 40 executives, including the Global President's office and Delta Galil leadership. Not one has responded.

This isn't about $268. It's about a multi-million-dollar global brand knowingly enforcing a bad faith policy, ignoring escalation, and trapping consumers.

Shein and Zara have already faced global backlash for similar practices. 7 For All Mankind is taking the same path.

I have prepared documentation comparing their policies against competitors (AG, True Religion, PAIGE, Citizens of Humanity, J Brand) — all of whom offer customers more flexibility. I can provide the press statement and supporting materials upon request.

Sincerely,
Charles William Kinslow IV
