If you will please refund the attached item, so that I can properly complete the purchase using the PayPal account I use for these transactions, I will immediately re-commence purchasing. There was a default setting and it went to the wrong PayPal account. I apologize for any difficulty. I thank you for your time and consideration.

Dear Mr. Kinslow,

Our understanding is you placed an order with 4 items, coming from 4 different of our marketplace partners. You then cancelled 3 out of 4 of those items, effectively only deciding to keep the Bally jeans order.

The refund for the cancellations was processed to your original payment method, divided in two: the biggest part to your PayPal account - USD 1,377.40, and a smaller refund to your FARFETCH account (USD 14.15 - from the credit we previously offered you). You are welcome to use the remaining credit in a future order - it will apply automatically on checkout.

The active order for the BALLY - "straight-leg jeans" was paid in full with the FARFETCH goodwill credit (USD 285.85) and will be shipped soon with this DHL tracking number: 1408516745. Y

On our end, it seems everything is in order. Can you please be more specific in how we can be of service to you?

Regards,

Patricia

I expect my $300 promotional credit and 15% discount code restored to my account within 1 business day. The 'PayPal setting error' that cancelled my order is a system failure on your end, not mine.

I've documented this incident and am prepared to: (1) file complaints with the FTC and Louisiana Attorney General regarding systematic failure to honor promotional credits post-Coupang acquisition, (2) dispute charges with my credit card issuer, and (3) forward evidence of customer account mismanagement to the Cayman Islands liquidators currently investigating Farfetch management (Case FSD 15 of 2024).

The pattern of lost credits, rejected returns, and deteriorating customer service following the January 2024 acquisition mirrors the allegations in your pending securities fraud case (SDNY 1:23-cv-10982) regarding systemic avoidance of obligations. I expect a resolution by the close of business today.

Also, here is a draft second amended complaint to help your old pals.

PROJECT ATHENA SMOKING GUN

December 2022: Defendants initiated "Project Athena" - confidential effort to restructure Company obligations and escape liabilities to public shareholders.

- March 2023 documents marked "HIGHLY CONFIDENTIAL—ATTORNEY WORK PRODUCT":
- Slide titled "Current Liquidity Crisis"
 - Cash exhaustion projected September 2023
 - Strategic alternatives: take-private transaction, asset sale, bankruptcy filing
 - Timeline: "execution of distressed transaction by Q4 2023"

April 2023 documents: Strategy of "maintaining stock price and investor confidence through Q2 earnings" to "preserve optionality for transaction alternatives and avoid triggering acceleration clauses in debt covenants."

PARTICULARIZED CONFIDENTIAL WITNESSES

- CW1 (Senior Director Financial Planning & Analysis, January 2022-September 2023, reported directly to CFO Jordan):
- February 15, 2023: Personally presented internal "Revised Operating Plan" to Jordan showing maximum achievable 2023 revenue of $2.0 billion
 - CW1 directly observed Jordan reviewing forecast line-by-line and stating: "these numbers are more realistic than what we'll tell the Street"
 - Three weeks later, March 9, 2023: Jordan publicly guided $2.3-$2.4 billion (15-20% overstatement)

- CW3 (Director Corporate Development, March 2021-October 2023, reported to CEO Neves, Project Athena manager):
- Participated in weekly Project Athena strategy meetings attended by Neves, Jordan, and Goldman Sachs advisors
 - Personally reviewed internal presentation materials showing liquidity crisis timeline and strategic alternatives
 - Initiative's stated objective: "secure a future for the Farfetch Business free of the financial obligations and liabilities held by the public entity"

- CW4 (Treasury Manager, reported to CFO Jordan, responsible for covenant compliance monitoring):
- August 3, 2023: Personally prepared and hand-delivered "Covenant Compliance Analysis" to Jordan's office
 - Analysis showed: (1) Adjusted EBITDA covenant breach gave lenders right to call $200 million facilities immediately; (2) breach restricted access to $400 million revolving credit facility; (3) actual available liquidity approximately $93 million
 - CW4 witnessed Jordan reading document and stating: "this is a disaster"
 - August 10, 2023 (one week later): Jordan publicly claimed "strong liquidity position with $893 million in cash and available credit facilities"

CONTEMPORANEOUS CONTRADICTIONARY EVIDENCE - REVENUE FRAUD

February 15, 2023: CW1 presents $2.0 billion maximum internal forecast to Jordan
February 22, 2023: Board meeting - Jordan presents "Liquidity Scenario Analysis" showing cash exhaustion by September 2023 (per Board meeting minutes obtained in Cayman liquidation proceeding)

March 9, 2023: Jordan publicly guides $2.3-$2.4 billion revenue for fiscal 2023

CONTEMPORANEOUS CONTRADICTIONARY EVIDENCE - LIQUIDITY FRAUD

August 3, 2023: CW4 hand-delivers covenant breach analysis to Jordan showing $93 million actual available liquidity

August 7, 2023: Jordan personally participates in conference call with JPMorgan (administrative agent for credit facilities) where lenders inform Jordan they intend to exercise right to restrict access to revolver pending covenant cure discussions

August 8, 2023: Jordan sends email to Neves stating: "Real liquidity is under $100M. We have maybe 6-8 weeks of runway" (email produced in Cayman liquidation proceeding)

August 10, 2023: Jordan publicly states "Farfetch maintains a strong liquidity position with $893 million in cash and available credit facilities"

SPECIFIC FALSE STATEMENTS

March 9, 2023: "$2.3 billion to $2.4 billion revenue" vs. internal forecast $2.0 billion maximum

August 10, 2023: "$893 million in cash and available credit" vs. actual available $93 million

March 9, 2023: "Strong demand across all our key markets" vs. U.S. GMV declined 23% YoY, China GMV declined 22% YoY

MATERIALITY

Covenant compliance: Credit agreements contained covenants requiring minimum revenue levels; failure to meet $2.2 billion in 2023 revenue would trigger technical default

Delisting avoidance: Inflated guidance necessary to maintain stock price above $3.00 to avoid NYSE delisting

Financing need: Farfetch needed to raise approximately $300 million in additional financing before year-end, which required maintaining investor confidence through Q2 earnings

COUPANG ACQUISITION CORROBORATION

January 31, 2024 (five months after Class Period ended): Coupang, Inc. acquired Farfetch through $500 million rescue deal, creating FF Holdings Limited as successor entity

Immediate post-acquisition operational gutting:

- 2,000 employees laid off (25-30% of workforce)

- VIP customer service budget slashed 96% from $2 million to $80,000

- Major luxury brands withdrew from platform: Gucci, Balenciaga, Saint Laurent, Bottega Veneta, Celine, Alaïa

February 2, 2024 (two days after acquisition): Cayman Islands Grand Court ordered Farfetch Limited into liquidation (Case FSD 15 of 2024), with Court-appointed liquidators investigating potential management misconduct

SUCCESSOR LIABILITY

FF Holdings Limited is liable as successor-in-interest for Defendants' securities fraud: (1) acquired substantially all of Farfetch's assets and business operations; (2) continued Farfetch's business under same brand; (3) assumed Farfetch's liabilities and obligations; (4) holds itself out as Farfetch to customers and market

Hey!
You need to reroute the shipment where? Do you wish to cancel the jeans order? Is that it?
Look, would it be perhaps easier if I had a senior advisor call you and try to understand how we can support you here.
We really want to help but are confused about what could have gone wrong. We stated our understanding about your orders, cancellations and refunds below. But if that description is incorrect, please let us know so that we can fix it.
Are you available for a phone call?
Thank you,
Patricia

Patricia,

I need a written response addressing the specific marketplace violations I documented, not a phone call.

The issues are clear:

1. Your marketplace partners are violating FTC regulations and your own terms
2. I've filed complaints with FTC and Louisiana AG documenting these violations

What I need from you in writing:

- Acknowledgment of the marketplace compliance failures
- Full refund for jeans I tried to cancel immediately
- Confirmation of corrective action to prevent future violations

I've already explained everything in detail. If senior advisors need to review my previous emails and the regulatory complaints I filed, they can do that.

A phone call without written follow-up doesn't resolve documented marketplace violations.
I need your written response by end of business.

Charles Kinslow
