

Fw: FINAL NOTICE - Multi-Party Escalation / Order PFRLZ / 72 Hour

From: Charly Wiz (charwiz43@yahoo.com)

To: ines.bernardino@farfetch.com

Date: Monday, February 23, 2026 at 03:36 PM CST

----- Forwarded Message -----

From: Charly Wiz <charwiz43@yahoo.com>

To: stephen.eggleston@farfetch.com <stephen.eggleston@farfetch.com>; luis.carvalho@farfetch.com <luis.carvalho@farfetch.com>; jose.bago@farfetch.com <jose.bago@farfetch.com>; svetlana.bell@farfetch.com <svetlana.bell@farfetch.com>; luisa.fernandes@farfetch.com <luisa.fernandes@farfetch.com>; tiago.desousa@farfetch.com <tiago.desousa@farfetch.com>

Cc: svetlana.bell@farfetch.com <svetlana.bell@farfetch.com>; ogonna.nnamani@farfetch.com <ogonna.nnamani@farfetch.com>; tim.stone@farfetch.com <tim.stone@farfetch.com>; erik.rehn@farfetch.com <erik.rehn@farfetch.com>; sachin.kapur@farfetch.com <sachin.kapur@farfetch.com>

Sent: Monday, February 23, 2026 at 02:13:19 PM CST

Subject: FINAL NOTICE - Multi-Party Escalation / Order PFRLZ / 72 Hour

Your customer service team has given me no choice but to escalate comprehensively due to their dismissive response to documented deceptive trade practices.

Violations:

15 U.S.C. § 45(a) - Deceptive practices (FTC Act)

La. R.S. 51:1405 - Unfair trade practices (treble damages)

16 C.F.R. § 251.1 - Material disclosure failures

Your "NC15FF for 15% off" banner (90-second rotation, top placement) with exclusions buried 4-5 clicks deep violates every element of FTC disclosure standards. This isn't ambiguous.

Actions Initiated (72-hour timeline):

- Coupang Executive Leadership - Direct communication to CEO Bom Kim and Board documenting that the compliance failures which destroyed Farfetch's value remain unresolved, potentially affecting the $500M acquisition's valuation.

- Short-Seller Research Firms - Submitting documentation to Hindenburg Research, Muddy Waters, and Citron Research showing continued deceptive practices post-acquisition. These firms specialize in exposing corporate fraud affecting stock valuations.
- Business Media - Contacting journalists at WSJ, Bloomberg, and Reuters who covered Farfetch's 2023 collapse and Coupang acquisition with documentation showing the practices that caused your bankruptcy remain unchanged under new ownership.
- Investor Class Action Counsel - Reaching out to Pomerantz LLP (who handled Farfetch securities litigation) with evidence Coupang may have misrepresented post-acquisition compliance reforms to shareholders, creating potential successor liability.
- SEC Office of Whistleblower - Filing Form TCR regarding potential material misrepresentations to investors about operational reforms following acquisition.
- Consumer Class Action Firms - Providing documentation to Hagens Berman and Lieff Cabraser for potential UTPA class certification under La. R.S. 51:1409.
- Payment Dispute - Initiating chargeback citing "services not as described" with full documentation, which will flag your merchant account for compliance review.
- Public Documentation - Posting complete timeline with screenshots across consumer protection forums, Reddit (r/LegalAdvice, r/Luxury), and Twitter tagging @Coupang.

This is entirely preventable.

Resolution Demand:

Full refund: Order PFLLCR

Store credit: $[amount of denied promotional value]

Written explanation of disclosure compliance procedures

Deadline: 72 hours from 2:07 p.m. CST

After this deadline, every action above proceeds simultaneously. At that point, your exposure extends beyond a customer complaint denied a coupon for some some t-shirts to a documented pattern affecting investor confidence, stock valuation, and regulatory scrutiny.

Your choice.

Charly Wiz

Shipping Restrictions: PFRL LZ

From: Charly Wiz (charwiz43@yahoo.com)

To: stephen.eggleston@farfetch.com; jose.bago@farfetch.com; ines.bernardino@farfetch.com; erik.rehn@farfetch.com; sachin.kapur@farfetch.com; jonlee@coupang.com; alwong@coupang.com; mparker@coupang.com; miparker@coupang.com

Cc: michael.kliger@luxexperience.com; lisa.schulz@luxexperience.com; ftranquilli@ynap.com; francis.belin@mytheresa.com; heather.kaminetsky@mytheresa.com; claudia.plant@net-a-porter.com; heather.kaminetsky@net-a-porter.com

Date: Friday, February 27, 2026 at 12:48 PM CST

Just got off the phone with Barbara from customer service. Barbara's sage advice regarding the shipping restrictions applicable to my order were to perform the same steps I had the night prior.

I attempted to schedule a hold request through FedEx virtually and also by phone with an agent last night. Said agent informed me that no hold request could be processed without the shipper's involvement.

After Barbara was provided this information, she insisted almost robotically repetition of these same steps. She also said "We cannot call FedEx" which, I don't even know where to start with that.

What the hell is going on and why are you so reticent to do anything about it? It's a simple fix.

Sent from Yahoo Mail for iPhone

Fw: Your Query with FARFETCH - Order PFRLLZ Boutique Order BRZ184072533

From: Charly Wiz (charwiz43@yahoo.com)

To: raquel.allegra@farfetch.com

Date: Monday, February 23, 2026 at 01:04 PM CST

----- Forwarded Message -----

From: Charly Wiz <charwiz43@yahoo.com>

To: raquel.magalhaes@farfetch.com <raquel.magalhaes@farfetch.com>

Sent: Monday, February 23, 2026 at 12:28:46 PM CST

Subject: Fw: Your Query with FARFETCH - Order PFRLLZ Boutique Order BRZ184072533

----- Forwarded Message -----

From: Charly Wiz <charwiz43@yahoo.com>

To: raquel.mariz@farfetch.com <raquel.mariz@farfetch.com>

Sent: Monday, February 23, 2026 at 12:25:35 PM CST

Subject: Fw: Your Query with FARFETCH - Order PFRLLZ Boutique Order BRZ184072533

----- Forwarded Message -----

From: Charly Wiz <charwiz43@yahoo.com>

To: Farfetch Customer Service <customerservice@farfetch.com>

Sent: Monday, February 23, 2026 at 12:19:34 PM CST

Subject: Re: Your Query with FARFETCH - Order PFRLLZ Boutique Order BRZ184072533

For your reading pleasure:

A simple 5-word string search revealed the following in 3-5 seconds:

Farfetch has faced allegations of deceptive sales, misleading promotions, and, more significantly, securities fraud for allegedly misrepresenting its financial health to investors. Consumers have reported "bait and switch" tactics, such as promotions not applying at checkout, while lawsuits highlighted the company's failure to disclose risks in its business model.

Allegations of Deceptive Consumer Practices

- Misleading Promotions: Customers have complained to the Better Business Bureau (BBB) about unethical sales tactics, including survey rewards with hidden terms and promotional discounts that fail to apply once items are in the cart.
- Unclear Terms: Complaints suggest that crucial terms of promotions are often not displayed conspicuously, aiming to increase sales under false pretenses.
- Quality/Authenticity Concerns: Some consumers have raised issues regarding the authenticity of products, alleging that some items from third-party sellers on the platform were not as advertised.

Legal and Financial Deception Claims (2023-2024)

- Securities Fraud Lawsuit: Following its financial collapse and sale to Coupang, Farfetch executives were accused of making materially false and misleading statements to inflate stock prices ("A toxic person will NEVER change. They just change VICTIMS and continue to blame everything on everyone else".)
- Hidden Business Risks: THE COMPANY FAILED TO DISCLOSE THAT ITS BUSINESS MODEL WAS HEAVILY RELIANT ON UNSUSTAINABLE, HIGH-COST, AND POORLY INTEGRATED ACQUISITIONS. Based on search results, Farfetch operates as a managed marketplace rather than a traditional retailer, meaning they do not hold inventory themselves. Instead, they connect customers with over 1,400 independent luxury boutiques and brands globally.

Here is the breakdown regarding their pricing structure and the controversies surrounding it:

- Who Sets the Price: According to Farfetch, individual partner boutiques and brands set their own prices, which is why the same item can have varying prices on the platform.
- The "Grey Market" Controversy: Reports indicate that Farfetch has moved away from strict brand relationships toward a "grey market" model. They have been accused of enabling, and in some cases promoting, sales from unauthorized, anonymous resellers, which contributes to unpredictable pricing.
- The "Sold by Farfetch" Program: In 2023, Farfetch implemented a program allowing anonymous, multi-brand resellers to sell on the platform without direct brand consent, leading to inconsistent pricing and undermining brand efforts to maintain price parity.

- How They Make Money: Farfetch charges their partner boutiques a commission, typically 25%–30% on each sale, plus an additional ~8% if Farfetch handles fulfillment.

Key Takeaways:

- The "Lie" Perspective: While Farfetch claims that pricing is "out of their hands," they take a high commission (25-30%+) and have, according to reports, intentionally relaxed rules to allow more diverse (and often, unauthorized) sellers on the platform, which drives the inconsistent pricing.
- The Reality: The model relies on "distributed stock" where the platform does not control the inventory, which enables, but also excuses, price discrepancies.

After significant financial instability, Farfetch was acquired by Coupang in early 2024.

- Misleading Financial Health: Reports indicated that Farfetch failed to inform investors about its severe, rapidly increasing, and undisclosed financial losses.

The words “misleading” and “misrepresentative” appear 5 times in this description of the predatory, unscrupulous, double-dealing that occurs with frequent regularity apparently.

"Those who climb the corporate ladder of lies and deception will sooner or later fall off the shaky steps. There is a special kind of emptiness in a life spent building a monument to yourself out of the bricks of other people's broken lives." -Khang Nguyen

On Monday, February 23, 2026 at 10:20:39 AM CST, Farfetch Customer Service <customerservice@farfetch.com> wrote:

Dear Charly,

Thank you for shopping with FARFETCH.

I've looked into why the code wasn't applied to your recent order. It appears that the NC15FF promotional code is applicable to full-price items only. For more comprehensive details, please feel free to visit our Promotion Terms and Conditions page.

Since the Wild Donkey La Verne printed crew-neck T-shirt in your order was already discounted or part of a sale, unfortunately, the code couldn't be layered on top of those existing savings.

I hope this helped clarify any doubts that you may have had.

If you require any further assistance, please do let us know.

Kind regards,
Raquel Ma.

Service Excellence Team
www.farfetch.com

----- Original Message -----

From: Farfetch Customer Service [customerservice@farfetch.com]

Sent: 21/02/2026 11:42

To: charwiz43@yahoo.com

Subject: Your Query with FARFETCH - Order PFRLZ Boutique Order BRZ184072533

Dear Charly,

Thanks for contacting FARFETCH.

We'll be in touch soon

I've reached out to the relevant team to find out further information. As soon as I've got more information, I'll be in touch.

Thanks for your patience while we look into this for you.

If you need anything else, please feel free to get in touch.

Wishing you a great day!
Mohammad H.

Service Excellence Team
www.farfetch.com

Attorney Misconduct Complaint

Your Contact Information

Title: Mr.

First name: Charles

Middle name: William

Last name: Kinslow IV

Address: 1002 Park Avenue Unit 4B

City: Monroe

State: LA

ZIP code: 71201

Email: chase.kinslow@gmail.com

Your telephone numbers:

Home: (501) 707-7779

Work:

Cell:

Attorney's Information

First name: Madison

Middle name: Grace

Last name: Marshall

Address: 600 Anton Blvd Ste 1800

City: Costa Mesa

State: CA

ZIP code: 92626

Email: madison.marshall@morganlewis.com

CA Bar License #: 359485

Primary phone: (714) 830-0434

Other phone:

Cell phone:

Website: <http://madison.marshall@morganlewis.com>

Have you or a member of your family complained to the State Bar about this attorney previously?

☐ Yes ☒ No

Did you hire the attorney?

☐ Yes ☒ No

Does this complaint involve allegations of theft or misappropriation of funds?

☐ Yes ☒ No

Does this complaint involve allegations of attorney misconduct against a person 65 years of age or older?

☐ Yes ☒ No

Does this complaint involve allegations of attorney misconduct against a person who is incapacitated, infirm, disabled, incarcerated, an immigrant, or a minor?

☐ Yes ☒ No

Attorney Misconduct Complaint

Does this complaint involve allegations that the attorney has abandoned a client?

☐ Yes ☒ No

Does this complaint involve allegations about an attorney who provided, or was supposed to provide, services related to immigration?

☐ Yes ☒ No

Are you an attorney?

☒ Yes ☐ No

Does this complaint involve allegations against opposing counsel?

☐ Yes ☒ No

Are you filing this complaint based on your duty to report professional misconduct under Rule of Professional Conduct 8.3? (Additional information regarding filings under Rule 8.3 is in these FAQs.)

☐ Yes ☒ No

Enter the approximate date you hired the attorney and the amount, if any paid to the attorney.

Date:

Amount paid:

What is your connection with the attorney? Explain briefly.

Unrepresented consumer. The attorney formally asserted representation on behalf of Affirm, Inc. as corporate defense counsel in an active dispute regarding statutory consumer fraud, Unfair Competition Law violations, and regulatory disclosures where I was the impacted consumer.

Statement of Complaint

Include with your submission a statement of what the attorney did or did not do that is the basis of your complaint. Please state the facts as you understand them. Do not include opinions or arguments. If you hired the attorney(s), state what you hired the attorney(s) to do. Additional information may be requested.

Attorney Misconduct Complaint

COMPLAINT REGARDING ATTORNEY CONDUCT

Complainant: Charles W. Kinslow IV, J.D., C.P.A.

Respondent Attorney: Madison Marshall (Morgan Lewis & Bockius LLP)

FACTUAL STATEMENT OF CONDUCT:

1. On July 24, 2026 (4:34 PM CDT), Respondent Madison Marshall sent an email asserting legal representation of Affirm, Inc. ("We have been retained by Affirm... Please direct all future correspondence to me"). In her email, Respondent stated she understood Complainant was "interested in making a payment" and requested a phone conference.
2. On July 24, 2026, Complainant responded by providing written documentation and payment confirmation receipts proving that bank BillPay payments had already been processed and credited on July 22 and July 23, 2026, disproving the factual premise of counsel's inquiry.
3. On July 28, 2026, Affirm submitted formal written disclosures to CFPB Complaint #260717-35668593 falsely stating a "$26.16 consumer bank chargeback" had occurred and misidentifying the payment instrument as an external financial institution, when the payment was executed using an Affirm virtual card.
4. On August 3, 2026, Complainant notified Respondent Marshall in writing of Affirm's false disclosures to federal regulators. Respondent Marshall failed to respond, investigate, or take corrective action.
5. On August 6, 2026, Complainant served Respondent Marshall with a Rule 4.2 Bar Ethics & Scope Notice, requesting clarification of the scope of representation given that Affirm's automated operational systems continued to send direct debt collection solicitations and text messages to Complainant despite counsel's representation letter. Respondent Marshall has maintained total silence and failed to respond.

ETHICS RULES AT ISSUE: Rule 8.4(c) (Dishonesty/Misrepresentation), Rule 4.2 (Communication with Represented/Unrepresented Persons), Rule 1.4 (Communication), and Rule 8.3 (Reporting Misconduct).

Attorney's Information

First name: Arjun

Middle name: P

Last name: Rao

Address: 600 Anton Boulevard, Suite 1800

City: Costa Mesa

State: CA

ZIP code: 92626

Email: arjun.rao@morganlewis.com

CA Bar License #: 265347

Primary phone: (714) 830-0600

Other phone:

Cell phone:

Website: <http://arjun.rao@morganlewis.com>

Have you or a member of your family complained to the State Bar about this attorney previously?

☐ Yes ☒ No

Did you hire the attorney?

☐ Yes ☒ No

Does this complaint involve allegations of theft or misappropriation of funds?

☐ Yes ☒ No

Attorney Misconduct Complaint

Does this complaint involve allegations of attorney misconduct against a person 65 years of age or older?

☐ Yes ☒ No

Does this complaint involve allegations of attorney misconduct against a person who is incapacitated, infirm, disabled, incarcerated, an immigrant, or a minor?

☐ Yes ☒ No

Does this complaint involve allegations that the attorney has abandoned a client?

☐ Yes ☒ No

Does this complaint involve allegations about an attorney who provided, or was supposed to provide, services related to immigration?

☐ Yes ☒ No

Are you an attorney?

☒ Yes ☐ No

Does this complaint involve allegations against opposing counsel?

☐ Yes ☒ No

Are you filing this complaint based on your duty to report professional misconduct under Rule of Professional Conduct 8.3? (Additional information regarding filings under Rule 8.3 is in these FAQs.)

☐ Yes ☒ No

Enter the approximate date you hired the attorney and the amount, if any paid to the attorney.

Date:

Amount paid:

What is your connection with the attorney? Explain briefly.

The attorney is a Partner at Morgan Lewis & Bockius LLP who was CC'd on legal representation emails sent to me by associate Madison Marshall, and he is presumably her supervising partner regarding Affirm, Inc.

Statement of Complaint

Include with your submission a statement of what the attorney did or did not do that is the basis of your complaint. Please state the facts as you understand them. Do not include opinions or arguments. If you hired the attorney(s), state what you hired the attorney(s) to do. Additional information may be requested.

Attorney Misconduct Complaint

COMPLAINT REGARDING ATTORNEY CONDUCT

Complainant: Charles W. Kinslow IV, J.D., C.P.A.

Respondent Attorney: Arjun P. Rao (Partner, Morgan Lewis & Bockius LLP)

FACTUAL STATEMENT OF CONDUCT:

1. Respondent Arjun P. Rao is a Partner at Morgan Lewis & Bockius LLP. On July 24, 2026 (4:34 PM CDT), associate Madison Marshall sent an email to Complainant asserting legal representation of Affirm, Inc., and CC'd Respondent Rao on the communication.
2. On July 24, 2026, Complainant replied directly to associate Marshall, CC'ing Respondent Rao, attaching bank BillPay payment receipts proving legitimate loans were already fully paid, disproving the factual premise of counsel's inquiry.
3. On July 28, 2026, Affirm submitted formal written disclosures to CFPB Complaint #260717-35668593 falsely claiming a "$26.16 consumer bank chargeback" occurred and misidentifying the payment instrument as an external financial institution, when the payment was executed using an Affirm virtual card.
4. On August 3, 2026, Complainant sent a written notice to associate Marshall, CC'ing Respondent Rao, detailing Affirm's false disclosures to federal regulators. As the supervising partner CC'd on the matter, Respondent Rao failed to investigate, direct corrective action, or respond.
5. On August 6, 2026, Complainant served associate Marshall with a Rule 4.2 Ethics & Scope Notice, CC'ing Respondent Rao, pointing out that Affirm's automated operational systems continued sending direct debt collection solicitations and text messages to Complainant despite counsel's representation letter. Respondent Rao took no remedial action and maintained total silence.
6. Under Rule 5.1, a partner who is CC'd on client representation communications and subsequent ethical notices has direct knowledge of the matter and a supervisory obligation to ensure compliance with professional rules and take reasonable remedial measures.

ETHICS RULES AT ISSUE: Rule 5.1 (Responsibilities of Supervisory Lawyers), Rule 8.4(c) (Dishonesty/Misrepresentation), Rule 4.2 (Communication with Represented/Unrepresented Persons), and Rule 1.4 (Communication).

Related Court Case Information

Court name:

Case name:

Case number:

Approx. date case was filed:

Size of law firm complained about Unknown

If you are not a party to this case, what is your connection with it? Explain briefly.

Attorney Misconduct Complaint

Attachments

☐ No files attached

- Affirm_Liability_Clearance_July16.pdf
- Affirm_Managing_Counsel_Directive_July17.pdf
- CA AG Complaint Response.pdf
- CA AG Complaint.pdf
- CFPB_Complaints_AffirmResponse_MyFeedback.pdf
- LA AG Complaint and Email.pdf
- Morgan_Lewis_Correspondence.pdf

Translation Information

☒ Not applicable

The State Bar accepts complaints in over 200 languages. If you need translation services to communicate with the State Bar, please let us know by completing this section of the complaint form. We will communicate with you through a translation service in the language of your choice. Do you need translation services?

☐ Yes ☐ No

State the language in which you need formal translation:

Submission

☒ By checking this box I certify that all information on this form is true and correct. I understand that the content of my complaint can be disclosed to the attorney. I understand that I waive the attorney client privilege and any other applicable privilege between myself and the attorney to the extent necessary for the investigation and prosecution of the allegations. I also agree that the checkbox and my name typed below are to be used as my electronic signature.

☒ I understand that if the Office of Chief Trial Counsel (OCTC) prosecutes allegations contained in this complaint, I may be required to testify before the State Bar Court in order to prove the charge or charges or misconduct against the above-named attorney.

☒ I understand that every person who reports to the State Bar or causes a complaint to be filed with the State Bar that an attorney has engaged in professional misconduct, knowing the report or complaint to be false and malicious, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

Signature Charles William Kinslow IV

The State Bar of California

Attorney Misconduct Complaint

Date: 8/8/2026

Re: Dispute Regarding Cancellation Policy

1 message

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 2:28 PM

To: lramos@7forallmankind.com

Lisa,

I am trying to cancel an order placed yesterday. The customer service representatives continue to advise me that the cancellation policy disallowing my efforts is mentioned in the FAQ section and, consequently, I have no recourse. I then provided them with the following information which they either do not understand, do not care, or are too lazy to attempt to do anything about. Please review the following and advise regarding our options:

I am writing to cancel my order #1050840, placed on September 24, 2025.

Your “no cancellation” policy was not presented in a clear and conspicuous manner during the checkout process. Instead, it appears only on a separate FAQ page. According to the Federal Trade Commission’s online disclosure guidance, material terms must be “clear and conspicuous” at the point where the customer makes their purchasing decision. Burying such a restriction in an FAQ does not meet that standard, and therefore it was not part of our agreement.

Because the restriction was not properly disclosed, it is unenforceable. I am therefore exercising my right to cancel and request a full refund to my original method of payment.

Please confirm my cancellation and refund within two business days. If I do not receive confirmation, I will dispute the charge with my payment provider and submit complaints to the FTC and my state Attorney General for unfair or deceptive business practices.

Thank you for your prompt attention to this matter.

Sincerely,
Charles William Kinslow, IV, J.D., C.P.A.

--

Charles W. Kinslow IV, J.D., C.P.A. <https://www.linkedin.com/in/experiencedaccountantlawyer>

Re: Order not Showing on Site

13 messages

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 10:24 AM

To: customercare@7forallmankind.com

Please see above and advise. Attached is the confirmation email. Thank you.

Chase

null

Your 7 For All Mankind order confirmation.pdf
415K

7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 10:29 AM

Reply-To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

To: Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Hi Charles,

Thanks for reaching out!

After review, your order was successfully submitted.

Please let us know if there is anything else we can help with.

Thank you,
Amanda
Customer Service Representative

Pinterest | Facebook | Instagram | X

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025, at 03:24 PM, Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com> wrote:

This is the first email you've received from this external sender.

Do not click links or open attachments unless it is an email you expected to receive.

[Quoted text hidden]

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 10:35 AM

To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

can you tell me when it will ship?

null

[Quoted text hidden]

7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
Reply-To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
To: Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 10:41 AM

Hi Charles,

As per our shipping policy, order processing takes 2-4 business days, based upon current volume, payment authorization and inventory fulfillment as stated in the shipping FAQ and at checkout. Processing time does not include transit time which only takes effect once your package has been picked up by the carrier. Once your order has shipped, you will be notified via email with the tracking information.

Please let us know if there's anything else we can do to help!

Thank you,
Amanda
Customer Service Representative

PinterestFacebookInstagramX

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025, at 03:35 PM, Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com> wrote:

This email comes from outside the organization.

Do not click links or open attachments unless it is an email you expected to receive.
can you tell me when it will ship?

null

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 10:29 AM 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com> wrote:

Hi Charles,

Thanks for reaching out!

After review, your order was successfully submitted.

Please let us know if there is anything else we can help with.

Thank you,
Amanda
Customer Service Representative

Pinterest|Facebook|Instagram|X

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025, at 03:24 PM, Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com> wrote:

This is the first email you've received from this external sender.

Do not click links or open attachments unless it is an email you expected to receive.

Please see above and advise. Attached is the confirmation email. Thank you.

Chase

null

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025, at 03:29 PM, 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com> wrote:

Hi Charles,

Thanks for reaching out!

After review, your order was successfully submitted.

Please let us know if there is anything else we can help with.

[Quoted text hidden]

7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
Reply-To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
To: "Mrs. Charles Kinslow III" <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 10:50 AM

Hi Charles,

How would you rate the help Amanda gave you?

Your feedback helps us improve and continue providing the best possible service. We appreciate your time!

Thanks!
Customer Service Director

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>
To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:07 PM

Can I please cancel my order?

null
[Quoted text hidden]

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>
To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:11 PM

I would like to cancel my order. The necessary information should be in the earlier attachment that I included. But I will attach it again for your reference. Thank you.

null
[Quoted text hidden]

 Your 7 For All Mankind order confirmation.pdf
415K

7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
Reply-To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
To: Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:13 PM

Hi Charles,

We apologize, but once an order is submitted, it cannot be changed or canceled. This includes updating the shipping address, changing items, editing or swapping promo codes, or canceling the order. Orders are sent for processing immediately and no changes can be made.

We appreciate your understanding and patience, if there is anything additional we can assist with, please feel free to reach back out.

Thank you,
Amanda
Customer Service Representative

PinterestFacebookInstagramX

[Quoted text hidden]
On Thu, Sep 25, 2025, at 05:07 PM, Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com> wrote:

This email comes from outside the organization.

Do not click links or open attachments unless it is an email you expected to receive.
Can I please cancel my order?

null

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 10:50 AM 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com> wrote:

Hi Charles,

How would you rate the help Amanda gave you?

Your feedback helps us improve and continue providing the best possible service. We appreciate your time!

Thanks!
Customer Service Director

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025, at 03:41 PM, 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com> wrote:

Hi Charles,

As per our shipping policy, order processing takes 2-4 business days, based upon current volume, payment authorization and inventory fulfillment as stated in the shipping FAQ and at checkout. Processing time does not include transit time which only takes effect once your package has been picked up by the carrier. Once your order has shipped, you will be notified via email with the tracking information.

Please let us know if there's anything else we can do to help!

[Quoted text hidden]

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:23 PM

To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

That is bullshit. Review the terms on your own webpage per the attachment. Review the other attachments as well. For example, "A company is allowed to enforce its policy as long as it is clearly disclosed to the customer before the sale is complete." Your own policy in the attached FAQ provides for cancellations like this. Let me speak to a supervisor now.

null

[Quoted text hidden]

2 attachments

Pages from Seven7 Jeans.pdf

251K

Can a Company Refuse to Cancel an Order_ - LegalClarity.pdf

351K

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:25 PM

To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

Otherwise, you'll be hearing from the Better Business Bureau.

[Quoted text hidden]

--

Charles W. Kinslow IV, J.D., C.P.A. <https://www.linkedin.com/in/experiencedaccountantlawyer>

2 attachments

-  Pages from Seven7 Jeans.pdf
251K
-  Can a Company Refuse to Cancel an Order_ - LegalClarity.pdf
351K

7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
Reply-To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
To: Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:35 PM

Hi Charles,

We kindly ask that you refrain from using derogatory language. Continued use of such language will result in the termination of the conversation with our customer service representatives.

Your attachment titled "pages from Seven7" is not our brand. Please note, that we are 7 For All Mankind.

All ordering and shipping information is available to view in our FAQ's prior to placing an order. The information is also available to view at checkout.

<https://7forallmankind.com/pages/help-center?hcUrl=%2Fen-US%2Fhow-do-i-change-or-cancel-an-order-1144748>

<https://7forallmankind.com/pages/help-center?hcUrl=%2Fen-US%2Fwhat-is-your-shipping-policy-1144775>

Unfortunately the request to cancel is within a very limited timeframe and may not always be feasible.

Once your order is received, you may request to return via our online return portal.

Thank you,
Amanda
Customer Service Representative

PinterestFacebookInstagramX

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025, at 05:25 PM, Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com> wrote:

This email comes from outside the organization.

Do not click links or open attachments unless it is an email you expected to receive.

[Quoted text hidden]

We apologize, but once an order is submitted, it cannot be changed or canceled. This includes updating the shipping address, changing items, editing or swapping promo codes, or canceling the order. Orders are sent for processing immediately and no changes can be made.

We appreciate your understanding and patience, if there

(...)

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:43 PM

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>
To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

Review the following and let me know what you think.

Under Federal Trade Commission (FTC) guidelines, a disclosure is considered "clear and conspicuous" if it is difficult to miss and easy for an ordinary consumer to understand

. A company cannot bury or hide important terms like a "no cancellation policy" in fine print. The standard is a "performance standard," meaning its effectiveness is measured by whether an average consumer would actually notice and comprehend it.

For a no-cancellation policy to be clear and conspicuous, it must be:

- Prominent: The disclosure must be in a font size, color, and location that makes it easily noticeable. It should not be hidden at the very bottom of a long page or in an "About Us" section.
- Proximate: The disclosure should appear close to the claim or action it qualifies. For an online purchase, this means placing the policy near the "add to cart" or "confirm purchase" buttons, or directly on the product page.
- Presented clearly: The language must be simple, direct, and unambiguous. It should be easily understandable to the intended audience, with "legalese" or technical jargon avoided.
- Unavoidable: In online transactions, the disclosure must be "unavoidable," meaning the consumer must be able to see it before completing the transaction. Merely offering a hyperlink to a terms of service page is generally insufficient if it's the only disclosure. Many websites achieve this with a checkbox that customers must click to agree to the terms before finalizing a purchase.

No, that provision alone is not sufficient and is legally problematic for several reasons. It is what courts call a "browsewrap" agreement, and it is far less likely to be enforceable than a "clickwrap" agreement, especially for significant terms like a no-cancellation policy

Why the provision is problematic●

- Implied consent is weak: A browsewrap agreement relies on the assumption that a customer implicitly agrees to the terms simply by continuing to use the site. This is a very weak form of consent.
- Lacks unambiguous assent: The provision does not require the user to take any specific, affirmative action to show they have read and understood the terms. A clickwrap agreement, where the user must check a box to confirm, is the standard best practice for demonstrating unambiguous assent.
- Notice is insufficient: The user may not actually notice the disclosure. Federal Trade Commission (FTC) guidelines require disclosures to be "clear and conspicuous," meaning they must be difficult for an ordinary consumer to miss. The provision you cited does not meet this standard because it can be easily overlooked.
- The payment screen is the wrong place for the first notice: A payment screen is a high-pressure environment where a customer is focused on finalizing their transaction. The FTC states that any disclosures necessary to prevent an advertisement from being misleading should be presented earlier in the transaction, not just on the order page.
- Distractions are present: The payment screen is often cluttered with other information like the total price, shipping details, and payment options. These other elements can easily draw a user's attention away from the terms and conditions notice, rendering it inconspicuous.

null

[Quoted text hidden]

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>
To: 7ForAllMankind <customer care@7forallmankind.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:46 PM

The existence of a "no cancellation policy" in a FAQ section on a separate page is not considered clear, conspicuous, or legally sufficient notice. Relying on this placement is a risky practice that is unlikely to hold up if a customer challenges it, especially in the event of a chargeback. ●

Why an FAQ section is not sufficient disclosure●

- FAQs are not legally binding: An FAQ section is typically viewed as an informational tool, not a part of the legally binding terms and conditions. A court would likely view placing a critical term like a no-cancellation policy there as an attempt to hide the information.

- Assumes the customer will look:Placing the policy in an FAQ assumes the customer will know to look there, find the right question, and read the answer before making a purchase. The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) "clear and conspicuous" standard does not allow for this assumption.
- Lacks explicit consent: Even if a customer happens to find and read the FAQ, it does not constitute express, informed consent. To show unambiguous agreement, companies should require a customer to take an affirmative action, such as checking a box, during the checkout process.
- Context of the payment page: The "browsewrap" notice you mentioned—"By continuing you agree..."—is already a weak form of consent. This inadequacy is compounded when the critical details are buried on another page, removing them from the immediate context of the transaction.
- Separation from the checkout flow: The FTC's guidance stresses that important disclosures should be "proximate" to the relevant claim or action. Hiding the no-cancellation policy on a separate FAQ page violates this principle by divorcing the disclosure from the act of payment.

null

[Quoted text hidden]

Re: Order not Showing on Site

13 messages

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 10:24 AM

To: customercare@7forallmankind.com

Please see above and advise. Attached is the confirmation email. Thank you.

Chase

null

Your 7 For All Mankind order confirmation.pdf
415K

7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 10:29 AM

Reply-To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

To: Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Hi Charles,

Thanks for reaching out!

After review, your order was successfully submitted.

Please let us know if there is anything else we can help with.

Thank you,
Amanda
Customer Service Representative

Pinterest|Facebook|Instagram|X

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025, at 03:24 PM, Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com> wrote:

This is the first email you've received from this external sender.

Do not click links or open attachments unless it is an email you expected to receive.

[Quoted text hidden]

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 10:35 AM

To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

can you tell me when it will ship?

null

[Quoted text hidden]

7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
Reply-To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
To: Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 10:41 AM

Hi Charles,

As per our shipping policy, order processing takes 2-4 business days, based upon current volume, payment authorization and inventory fulfillment as stated in the shipping FAQ and at checkout. Processing time does not include transit time which only takes effect once your package has been picked up by the carrier. Once your order has shipped, you will be notified via email with the tracking information.

Please let us know if there's anything else we can do to help!

Thank you,
Amanda
Customer Service Representative

Pinterest|Facebook|Instagram|X

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025, at 03:35 PM, Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com> wrote:

This email comes from outside the organization.

Do not click links or open attachments unless it is an email you expected to receive.
can you tell me when it will ship?

null

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 10:29 AM 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com> wrote:

Hi Charles,

Thanks for reaching out!

After review, your order was successfully submitted.

Please let us know if there is anything else we can help with.

Thank you,
Amanda
Customer Service Representative

Pinterest|Facebook|Instagram|X

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025, at 03:24 PM, Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com> wrote:

This is the first email you've received from this external sender.

Do not click links or open attachments unless it is an email you expected to receive.

Please see above and advise. Attached is the confirmation email. Thank you.

Chase

null

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025, at 03:29 PM, 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com> wrote:

Hi Charles,

Thanks for reaching out!

After review, your order was successfully submitted.

Please let us know if there is anything else we can help with.

[Quoted text hidden]

7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
Reply-To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
To: "Mrs. Charles Kinslow III" <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 10:50 AM

Hi Charles,

How would you rate the help Amanda gave you?

Your feedback helps us improve and continue providing the best possible service. We appreciate your time!

Thanks!
Customer Service Director

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>
To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:07 PM

Can I please cancel my order?

null
[Quoted text hidden]

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>
To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:11 PM

I would like to cancel my order. The necessary information should be in the earlier attachment that I included. But I will attach it again for your reference. Thank you.

null
[Quoted text hidden]

 Your 7 For All Mankind order confirmation.pdf
415K

7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
Reply-To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
To: Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:13 PM

Hi Charles,

We apologize, but once an order is submitted, it cannot be changed or canceled. This includes updating the shipping address, changing items, editing or swapping promo codes, or canceling the order. Orders are sent for processing immediately and no changes can be made.

We appreciate your understanding and patience, if there is anything additional we can assist with, please feel free to reach back out.

Thank you,
Amanda
Customer Service Representative

PinterestFacebookInstagramX

[Quoted text hidden]
On Thu, Sep 25, 2025, at 05:07 PM, Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com> wrote:

This email comes from outside the organization.

Do not click links or open attachments unless it is an email you expected to receive.
Can I please cancel my order?

null

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 10:50 AM 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com> wrote:

Hi Charles,

How would you rate the help Amanda gave you?

Your feedback helps us improve and continue providing the best possible service. We appreciate your time!

Thanks!
Customer Service Director

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025, at 03:41 PM, 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com> wrote:

Hi Charles,

As per our shipping policy, order processing takes 2-4 business days, based upon current volume, payment authorization and inventory fulfillment as stated in the shipping FAQ and at checkout. Processing time does not include transit time which only takes effect once your package has been picked up by the carrier. Once your order has shipped, you will be notified via email with the tracking information.

Please let us know if there's anything else we can do to help!

[Quoted text hidden]

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:23 PM

To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

That is bullshit. Review the terms on your own webpage per the attachment. Review the other attachments as well. For example, "A company is allowed to enforce its policy as long as it is clearly disclosed to the customer before the sale is complete." Your own policy in the attached FAQ provides for cancellations like this. Let me speak to a supervisor now.

null

[Quoted text hidden]

2 attachments

Pages from Seven7 Jeans.pdf

251K

Can a Company Refuse to Cancel an Order_ - LegalClarity.pdf

351K

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:25 PM

To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

Otherwise, you'll be hearing from the Better Business Bureau.

[Quoted text hidden]

--

Charles W. Kinslow IV, J.D., C.P.A. <https://www.linkedin.com/in/experiencedaccountantlawyer>

2 attachments

-  Pages from Seven7 Jeans.pdf
251K
-  Can a Company Refuse to Cancel an Order_ - LegalClarity.pdf
351K

7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
Reply-To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
To: Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:35 PM

Hi Charles,

We kindly ask that you refrain from using derogatory language. Continued use of such language will result in the termination of the conversation with our customer service representatives.

Your attachment titled "pages from Seven7" is not our brand. Please note, that we are 7 For All Mankind.

All ordering and shipping information is available to view in our FAQ's prior to placing an order. The information is also available to view at checkout.

<https://7forallmankind.com/pages/help-center?hcUrl=%2Fen-US%2Fhow-do-i-change-or-cancel-an-order-1144748>

<https://7forallmankind.com/pages/help-center?hcUrl=%2Fen-US%2Fwhat-is-your-shipping-policy-1144775>

Unfortunately the request to cancel is within a very limited timeframe and may not always be feasible.

Once your order is received, you may request to return via our online return portal.

Thank you,
Amanda
Customer Service Representative

PinterestFacebookInstagramX

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025, at 05:25 PM, Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com> wrote:

This email comes from outside the organization.

Do not click links or open attachments unless it is an email you expected to receive.

[Quoted text hidden]

We apologize, but once an order is submitted, it cannot be changed or canceled. This includes updating the shipping address, changing items, editing or swapping promo codes, or canceling the order. Orders are sent for processing immediately and no changes can be made.

We appreciate your understanding and patience, if there

(...)

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:43 PM

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>
To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

Review the following and let me know what you think.

Under Federal Trade Commission (FTC) guidelines, a disclosure is considered "clear and conspicuous" if it is difficult to miss and easy for an ordinary consumer to understand

. A company cannot bury or hide important terms like a "no cancellation policy" in fine print. The standard is a "performance standard," meaning its effectiveness is measured by whether an average consumer would actually notice and comprehend it.

For a no-cancellation policy to be clear and conspicuous, it must be:

- Prominent: The disclosure must be in a font size, color, and location that makes it easily noticeable. It should not be hidden at the very bottom of a long page or in an "About Us" section.
- Proximate: The disclosure should appear close to the claim or action it qualifies. For an online purchase, this means placing the policy near the "add to cart" or "confirm purchase" buttons, or directly on the product page.
- Presented clearly: The language must be simple, direct, and unambiguous. It should be easily understandable to the intended audience, with "legalese" or technical jargon avoided.
- Unavoidable: In online transactions, the disclosure must be "unavoidable," meaning the consumer must be able to see it before completing the transaction. Merely offering a hyperlink to a terms of service page is generally insufficient if it's the only disclosure. Many websites achieve this with a checkbox that customers must click to agree to the terms before finalizing a purchase.

No, that provision alone is not sufficient and is legally problematic for several reasons. It is what courts call a "browsewrap" agreement, and it is far less likely to be enforceable than a "clickwrap" agreement, especially for significant terms like a no-cancellation policy

Why the provision is problematic●

- Implied consent is weak: A browsewrap agreement relies on the assumption that a customer implicitly agrees to the terms simply by continuing to use the site. This is a very weak form of consent.
- Lacks unambiguous assent: The provision does not require the user to take any specific, affirmative action to show they have read and understood the terms. A clickwrap agreement, where the user must check a box to confirm, is the standard best practice for demonstrating unambiguous assent.
- Notice is insufficient: The user may not actually notice the disclosure. Federal Trade Commission (FTC) guidelines require disclosures to be "clear and conspicuous," meaning they must be difficult for an ordinary consumer to miss. The provision you cited does not meet this standard because it can be easily overlooked.
- The payment screen is the wrong place for the first notice: A payment screen is a high-pressure environment where a customer is focused on finalizing their transaction. The FTC states that any disclosures necessary to prevent an advertisement from being misleading should be presented earlier in the transaction, not just on the order page.
- Distractions are present: The payment screen is often cluttered with other information like the total price, shipping details, and payment options. These other elements can easily draw a user's attention away from the terms and conditions notice, rendering it inconspicuous.

null

[Quoted text hidden]

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>
To: 7ForAllMankind <customer care@7forallmankind.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:46 PM

The existence of a "no cancellation policy" in a FAQ section on a separate page is not considered clear, conspicuous, or legally sufficient notice. Relying on this placement is a risky practice that is unlikely to hold up if a customer challenges it, especially in the event of a chargeback. ●

Why an FAQ section is not sufficient disclosure●

- FAQs are not legally binding: An FAQ section is typically viewed as an informational tool, not a part of the legally binding terms and conditions. A court would likely view placing a critical term like a no-cancellation policy there as an attempt to hide the information.

- Assumes the customer will look:Placing the policy in an FAQ assumes the customer will know to look there, find the right question, and read the answer before making a purchase. The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) "clear and conspicuous" standard does not allow for this assumption.
- Lacks explicit consent: Even if a customer happens to find and read the FAQ, it does not constitute express, informed consent. To show unambiguous agreement, companies should require a customer to take an affirmative action, such as checking a box, during the checkout process.
- Context of the payment page: The "browsewrap" notice you mentioned—"By continuing you agree..."—is already a weak form of consent. This inadequacy is compounded when the critical details are buried on another page, removing them from the immediate context of the transaction.
- Separation from the checkout flow: The FTC's guidance stresses that important disclosures should be "proximate" to the relevant claim or action. Hiding the no-cancellation policy on a separate FAQ page violates this principle by divorcing the disclosure from the act of payment.

null

[Quoted text hidden]

Re: Order not Showing on Site

13 messages

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 10:24 AM

To: customercare@7forallmankind.com

Please see above and advise. Attached is the confirmation email. Thank you.

Chase

null

Your 7 For All Mankind order confirmation.pdf
415K

7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 10:29 AM

Reply-To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

To: Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Hi Charles,

Thanks for reaching out!

After review, your order was successfully submitted.

Please let us know if there is anything else we can help with.

Thank you,
Amanda
Customer Service Representative

Pinterest|Facebook|Instagram|X

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025, at 03:24 PM, Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com> wrote:

This is the first email you've received from this external sender.

Do not click links or open attachments unless it is an email you expected to receive.

[Quoted text hidden]

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 10:35 AM

To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

can you tell me when it will ship?

null

[Quoted text hidden]

7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
Reply-To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
To: Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 10:41 AM

Hi Charles,

As per our shipping policy, order processing takes 2-4 business days, based upon current volume, payment authorization and inventory fulfillment as stated in the shipping FAQ and at checkout. Processing time does not include transit time which only takes effect once your package has been picked up by the carrier. Once your order has shipped, you will be notified via email with the tracking information.

Please let us know if there's anything else we can do to help!

Thank you,
Amanda
Customer Service Representative

PinterestFacebookInstagramX

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025, at 03:35 PM, Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com> wrote:

This email comes from outside the organization.

Do not click links or open attachments unless it is an email you expected to receive.
can you tell me when it will ship?

null

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 10:29 AM 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com> wrote:

Hi Charles,

Thanks for reaching out!

After review, your order was successfully submitted.

Please let us know if there is anything else we can help with.

Thank you,
Amanda
Customer Service Representative

Pinterest|Facebook|Instagram|X

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025, at 03:24 PM, Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com> wrote:

This is the first email you've received from this external sender.

Do not click links or open attachments unless it is an email you expected to receive.

Please see above and advise. Attached is the confirmation email. Thank you.

Chase

null

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025, at 03:29 PM, 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com> wrote:

Hi Charles,

Thanks for reaching out!

After review, your order was successfully submitted.

Please let us know if there is anything else we can help with.

[Quoted text hidden]

7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
Reply-To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
To: "Mrs. Charles Kinslow III" <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 10:50 AM

Hi Charles,

How would you rate the help Amanda gave you?

Your feedback helps us improve and continue providing the best possible service. We appreciate your time!

Thanks!
Customer Service Director

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>
To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:07 PM

Can I please cancel my order?

null
[Quoted text hidden]

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>
To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:11 PM

I would like to cancel my order. The necessary information should be in the earlier attachment that I included. But I will attach it again for your reference. Thank you.

null
[Quoted text hidden]

 Your 7 For All Mankind order confirmation.pdf
415K

7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
Reply-To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
To: Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:13 PM

Hi Charles,

We apologize, but once an order is submitted, it cannot be changed or canceled. This includes updating the shipping address, changing items, editing or swapping promo codes, or canceling the order. Orders are sent for processing immediately and no changes can be made.

We appreciate your understanding and patience, if there is anything additional we can assist with, please feel free to reach back out.

Thank you,
Amanda
Customer Service Representative

PinterestFacebookInstagramX

[Quoted text hidden]
On Thu, Sep 25, 2025, at 05:07 PM, Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com> wrote:

This email comes from outside the organization.

Do not click links or open attachments unless it is an email you expected to receive.
Can I please cancel my order?

null

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 10:50 AM 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com> wrote:

Hi Charles,

How would you rate the help Amanda gave you?

Your feedback helps us improve and continue providing the best possible service. We appreciate your time!

Thanks!
Customer Service Director

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025, at 03:41 PM, 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com> wrote:

Hi Charles,

As per our shipping policy, order processing takes 2-4 business days, based upon current volume, payment authorization and inventory fulfillment as stated in the shipping FAQ and at checkout. Processing time does not include transit time which only takes effect once your package has been picked up by the carrier. Once your order has shipped, you will be notified via email with the tracking information.

Please let us know if there's anything else we can do to help!

[Quoted text hidden]

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:23 PM

To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

That is bullshit. Review the terms on your own webpage per the attachment. Review the other attachments as well. For example, "A company is allowed to enforce its policy as long as it is clearly disclosed to the customer before the sale is complete." Your own policy in the attached FAQ provides for cancellations like this. Let me speak to a supervisor now.

null

[Quoted text hidden]

2 attachments

Pages from Seven7 Jeans.pdf

251K

Can a Company Refuse to Cancel an Order_ - LegalClarity.pdf

351K

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:25 PM

To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

Otherwise, you'll be hearing from the Better Business Bureau.

[Quoted text hidden]

--

Charles W. Kinslow IV, J.D., C.P.A. <https://www.linkedin.com/in/experiencedaccountantlawyer>

2 attachments

-  Pages from Seven7 Jeans.pdf
251K
-  Can a Company Refuse to Cancel an Order_ - LegalClarity.pdf
351K

7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
Reply-To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>
To: Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:35 PM

Hi Charles,

We kindly ask that you refrain from using derogatory language. Continued use of such language will result in the termination of the conversation with our customer service representatives.

Your attachment titled "pages from Seven7" is not our brand. Please note, that we are 7 For All Mankind.

All ordering and shipping information is available to view in our FAQ's prior to placing an order. The information is also available to view at checkout.

<https://7forallmankind.com/pages/help-center?hcUrl=%2Fen-US%2Fhow-do-i-change-or-cancel-an-order-1144748>

<https://7forallmankind.com/pages/help-center?hcUrl=%2Fen-US%2Fwhat-is-your-shipping-policy-1144775>

Unfortunately the request to cancel is within a very limited timeframe and may not always be feasible.

Once your order is received, you may request to return via our online return portal.

Thank you,
Amanda
Customer Service Representative

PinterestFacebookInstagramX

On Thu, Sep 25, 2025, at 05:25 PM, Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com> wrote:

This email comes from outside the organization.

Do not click links or open attachments unless it is an email you expected to receive.

[Quoted text hidden]

We apologize, but once an order is submitted, it cannot be changed or canceled. This includes updating the shipping address, changing items, editing or swapping promo codes, or canceling the order. Orders are sent for processing immediately and no changes can be made.

We appreciate your understanding and patience, if there

(...)

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:43 PM

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>
To: 7ForAllMankind <customercare@7forallmankind.com>

Review the following and let me know what you think.

Under Federal Trade Commission (FTC) guidelines, a disclosure is considered "clear and conspicuous" if it is difficult to miss and easy for an ordinary consumer to understand

. A company cannot bury or hide important terms like a "no cancellation policy" in fine print. The standard is a "performance standard," meaning its effectiveness is measured by whether an average consumer would actually notice and comprehend it.

For a no-cancellation policy to be clear and conspicuous, it must be:

- Prominent: The disclosure must be in a font size, color, and location that makes it easily noticeable. It should not be hidden at the very bottom of a long page or in an "About Us" section.
- Proximate: The disclosure should appear close to the claim or action it qualifies. For an online purchase, this means placing the policy near the "add to cart" or "confirm purchase" buttons, or directly on the product page.
- Presented clearly: The language must be simple, direct, and unambiguous. It should be easily understandable to the intended audience, with "legalese" or technical jargon avoided.
- Unavoidable: In online transactions, the disclosure must be "unavoidable," meaning the consumer must be able to see it before completing the transaction. Merely offering a hyperlink to a terms of service page is generally insufficient if it's the only disclosure. Many websites achieve this with a checkbox that customers must click to agree to the terms before finalizing a purchase.

No, that provision alone is not sufficient and is legally problematic for several reasons. It is what courts call a "browsewrap" agreement, and it is far less likely to be enforceable than a "clickwrap" agreement, especially for significant terms like a no-cancellation policy

Why the provision is problematic●

- Implied consent is weak: A browsewrap agreement relies on the assumption that a customer implicitly agrees to the terms simply by continuing to use the site. This is a very weak form of consent.
- Lacks unambiguous assent: The provision does not require the user to take any specific, affirmative action to show they have read and understood the terms. A clickwrap agreement, where the user must check a box to confirm, is the standard best practice for demonstrating unambiguous assent.
- Notice is insufficient: The user may not actually notice the disclosure. Federal Trade Commission (FTC) guidelines require disclosures to be "clear and conspicuous," meaning they must be difficult for an ordinary consumer to miss. The provision you cited does not meet this standard because it can be easily overlooked.
- The payment screen is the wrong place for the first notice: A payment screen is a high-pressure environment where a customer is focused on finalizing their transaction. The FTC states that any disclosures necessary to prevent an advertisement from being misleading should be presented earlier in the transaction, not just on the order page.
- Distractions are present: The payment screen is often cluttered with other information like the total price, shipping details, and payment options. These other elements can easily draw a user's attention away from the terms and conditions notice, rendering it inconspicuous.

null

[Quoted text hidden]

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>
To: 7ForAllMankind <customer care@7forallmankind.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 12:46 PM

The existence of a "no cancellation policy" in a FAQ section on a separate page is not considered clear, conspicuous, or legally sufficient notice. Relying on this placement is a risky practice that is unlikely to hold up if a customer challenges it, especially in the event of a chargeback. ●

Why an FAQ section is not sufficient disclosure●

- FAQs are not legally binding: An FAQ section is typically viewed as an informational tool, not a part of the legally binding terms and conditions. A court would likely view placing a critical term like a no-cancellation policy there as an attempt to hide the information.

- Assumes the customer will look:Placing the policy in an FAQ assumes the customer will know to look there, find the right question, and read the answer before making a purchase. The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) "clear and conspicuous" standard does not allow for this assumption.
- Lacks explicit consent: Even if a customer happens to find and read the FAQ, it does not constitute express, informed consent. To show unambiguous agreement, companies should require a customer to take an affirmative action, such as checking a box, during the checkout process.
- Context of the payment page: The "browsewrap" notice you mentioned—"By continuing you agree..."—is already a weak form of consent. This inadequacy is compounded when the critical details are buried on another page, removing them from the immediate context of the transaction.
- Separation from the checkout flow: The FTC's guidance stresses that important disclosures should be "proximate" to the relevant claim or action. Hiding the no-cancellation policy on a separate FAQ page violates this principle by divorcing the disclosure from the act of payment.

null

[Quoted text hidden]

Deep Concern Over No-Cancellation Policy

1 message

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Sep 25, 2025 at 4:45 PM

To: ngreen@7forallmankind.com, asum@7forallmankind.com, szamora@7forallmankind.com, mmelegati@7forallmankind.com, mdimascia@7forallmankind.com, anobis@7forallmankind.com, smanfrin@7forallmankind.com, alevine@7forallmankind.com, kmu@7forallmankind.com, aradaelli@7forallmankind.com, mozuna@7forallmankind.com, Isoares@7forallmankind.com, aleonard@7forallmankind.com, crobbins@7forallmankind.com, jcharles@7forallmankind.com, sford@7forallmankind.com, kshum@7forallmankind.com, Gabe Oliver <GOliver@talentlogic.com>, mgray@7forallmankind.com, mribeiro@7forallmankind.com, jdoyle@linkapm.com, ksmith@7forallmankind.com, mambrosis@7forallmankind.com, kgist@7forallmankind.com, rtrushkov@7forallmankind.com, aajina@7forallmankind.com, kmuniz@7forallmankind.com, abigo@7forallmankind.com, gventura@7forallmankind.com, oaustin@7forallmankind.com, hwelch@7forallmankind.com, mmullins@7forallmankind.com, dpoggi@bcg-pr.com, nrosales@7forallmankind.com, lramos@7forallmankind.com, ftoninato@7forallmankind.com, lcasanova@7forallmankind.com, dsarian@7forallmankind.com, jdavid@7forallmankind.com

Dear Sacha Gomez de Zamora Ford,

I am writing as a disappointed customer after recently discovering that your company enforces a strict no-cancellation policy once an order is processed—even before it has shipped. This came as an unwelcome surprise to me when I attempted to cancel an order shortly after placing it.

From a customer's perspective, this policy feels unfair and unreasonable. If an item has not yet shipped, there should be a straightforward way to cancel it. Instead, customers are forced to accept products they no longer want, which erodes trust and creates a sense that the company values profits over fairness.

I urge you to consider how this will appear if brought to light more broadly. Major retailers like Shein and Zara have drawn negative publicity and criticism for enforcing similarly restrictive policies, despite their size and reach. Reports have pointed out that their profits have not been insulated from reputational damage—consumers and the media alike see through these practices and call them out. If your company continues on this path, it risks the same type of damaging exposure, where increased profits are portrayed as coming at the expense of customer rights.

As a consumer, I want to shop with brands I can trust, not those I feel are taking advantage of technicalities. If I, as one customer, feel compelled to escalate this to leadership, you can be certain others feel the same. Media attention on these policies could be profoundly harmful to the goodwill your company has built.

I strongly encourage you to reconsider this policy before it becomes a broader reputational issue. A fairer cancellation process would go a long way toward preserving customer trust and loyalty.

Sincerely,
Charles W. Kinslow IV, J.D., C.P.A.

--
Charles W. Kinslow IV, J.D., C.P.A. <https://www.linkedin.com/in/experiencedaccountantlawyer>

Urgent - Undisclosed Compliance Risks / Post-Acquisition Misrepresentation

From: Charly Wiz (charwiz43@yahoo.com)

To: jonlee@coupang.com; jarrettepstein@coupang.com; bkim@coupang.com; mparker@coupang.com; alwong@coupang.com

Cc: hrogers@coupang.com

Date: Monday, February 23, 2026 at 03:13 PM CST

Dear Coupang Investor Relations,

I'm providing advance notice of a significant issue that may affect representations made to investors regarding the Farfetch acquisition and subsequent operational reforms.

Farfetch continues to engage in the same deceptive promotional disclosure practices that contributed to its 2023 collapse - specifically, displaying prominent promotional offers while burying material exclusions in inaccessible locations that violate FTC disclosure standards.

When I raised this with Farfetch customer service, I received dismissive responses defending practices that constitute clear violations of 15 U.S.C. § 45(a) and state consumer protection laws.

Concern for Coupang Shareholders:

If Coupang represented to investors that post-acquisition reforms addressed the compliance failures that destroyed Farfetch's value, but these practices remain unchanged, this creates potential material misrepresentation exposure.

Actions I'm Taking (72-hour timeline):

- Direct communication to CEO Bom Kim and Board
- Documentation provided to short-seller research firms (Hindenburg, Muddy Waters, Citron)
- Media outreach to WSJ/Bloomberg/Reuters journalists who covered the acquisition
- SEC Form TCR submission regarding potential misrepresentation to investors
- Contact with Pomerantz LLP regarding potential shareholder claims

I'm providing this notice because I believe Coupang shareholders deserve transparency about ongoing compliance risks that may not have been fully disclosed.

This can be resolved immediately if Farfetch leadership addresses the underlying issue within 72 hours. Otherwise, all parties listed above will receive full documentation.

Attached: Screenshots evidencing continuing disclosure violations.

Charly Wiz
