

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

a bizarre legal paradox inside Affirm's C&D order

2 messages

Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Jul 23 at 11:55 PM

To: <seamus@courtwatch.news>

Seamus,

I follow your work on Court Watch tracking unusual legal filings and corporate dockets. I am writing to you directly because I endured a bizarre legal standoff involving Affirm's in-house litigation counsel.

The Core Legal Paradox:

- 86-Min Denial & Police/CFPB Filings: After Affirm's API denied my fraud claim in 86 minutes, I was forced to file an official Police Report and CFPB Complaint ID: 260717-35668593.
- Written Clearance vs. App Lock: Affirm Order Review cleared the $104.63 fraudulent loan (#PE270138) in writing on July 16, but froze my user interface.
- The C&D Order: On July 17, Managing Counsel Andy Y. Chen sent me a formal C&D ordering me to communicate exclusively with him under threat of litigation.
- The Contradiction: When I asked how to pay separate, valid monthly installments during the lockout (or for a waiver), Mr. Chen refused a waiver and told me to call frontline phone agents-commanding me to violate his own active C&D. Mr. Chen admitted in writing that marketing emails continue while the app is locked.
- Active Overdue Flag: As of July 23, Affirm's app displays the cleared fraud loan as "$26.16 overdue," proving that not even a police report or CFPB complaint accomplished anything against their automated system.
- BillPay Performance: To fulfill my contractual duties without breaking the C&D, I paid valid loans via external bank BillPay.

Any help in getting the word out would be most appreciated.

Best,

Chase Kinslow

chase.kinslow@gmail.com

501-707-7779

Charles W. Kinslow IV, J.D., C.P.A. <https://www.linkedin.com/in/experiencedaccountantlawyer>

Seamus Hughes <seamus@courtwatch.news>
To: Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>

Thu, Jul 30 at 5:17 PM

Could you let me know what docket this case is? I'll take a look.

From: Chase Kinslow <chase.kinslow@gmail.com>
Sent: Friday, July 24, 2026 12:55 AM
To: Seamus Hughes <seamus@courtwatch.news>
Subject: a bizarre legal paradox inside Affirm's C&D order

[Quoted text hidden]