Attorney General Bonta,

Your public leadership standing up for consumer fairness and algorithmic accountability across California is deeply appreciated. I am writing to report a documented case of unfair and deceptive practices (UCL § 17200 / UDAAP) committed by San Francisco-based Affirm, Inc.

Key Facts:

- After an 86-minute API fraud denial, I was forced to file an official Police Report and CFPB Complaint ID: 260717-35668593. Not even those measures accomplished anything to stop automated default engines.
- Affirm Order Review confirmed in writing on July 16 that a $104.63 fraudulent order (#PE270138) was cleared in my favor, but simultaneously locked my app interface.
- Managing Counsel Andy Y. Chen issued a formal C&D ordering exclusive contact through him. When I asked how to pay separate valid loans during the lockout, he refused a waiver and told me to call frontline phone agents—directing me to violate his own C&D.
- As of July 23, Affirm's app displays the cleared fraud loan as "$26.16 overdue," generating active default flags while my account remains locked.
- I fulfilled my payment duties on valid loans via external bank BillPay to maintain performance without breaking the legal C&D.

I am providing this record to your office to support California consumer protection enforcement.

Respectfully,

Chase Kinslow
